

REPUBLICANS STAGE PROHIBITION FIGHT TONIGHT

FIFTEEN YEARS FOR MEANS FOR
LINDBERGH HOAXFuneral Of Suicide Maid
Was Held Today
Englewood

Washington, June 15 —(AP)—Gaston B. Means today was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment for swindling Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean of $104,000 in an alleged plan to return the kidnaped Lindbergh baby.

Justice James M. Proctor in the District of Columbia Supreme Court sentenced the former Justice Department investigator to ten years on the larceny of $100,000 ransom money and five years for larceny of the $4,000 expense money. The latter sentence is to begin after the ten year sentence has been fulfilled.

T. Morris Wampler, one of Means' defense counsel, noted an appeal.

Justice Proctor, in addressing Means, said "the verdict reveals that the defendant capitalized not only on the sweetest and tenderest emotions of the human heart but also on the basest in his adroit and clever plan."

"The Lindbergh case brought out all the best in the hearts of men, but also gave opportunity to some to display the wickedness of human nature."

MAID IS BURIED
Englewood, N. J., June 15 —(AP)—Attended by Gerald Shepherd, Acting British Consul General, who brought a wreath of red roses to be placed on the casket, funeral services were conducted today in an undertaking establishment for Violet Sharpe, English servant who committed suicide at the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow Friday.

Arthur Springer, one of Mrs. Morrow's secretaries who was present some of the time while police were questioning the maid about the Lindbergh baby kidnapping and who had told her they were waiting to talk to her again just before she swallowed poison, represented the Morrow family. Mrs. Morrow and her son and a daughter, Dwight, Jr., and Constance, sailed for England early today.

Servants from the Morrow estate also attended the funeral. The body was placed in a grave about 200 yards from that of the late Senator Morrow.

MARRIED IN ENGLAND
Beenhams, England, June 15 —(AP)—Violet Sharpe, English waitress in the Morrow home in New Jersey who committed suicide following questioning by police in connection with the Lindbergh kidnapping, was married in London, before she went to America.

Violet's husband was a man named George Payne, her sister Emily revealed. She said she herself knew nothing about him and never met him.

Violet's mother said she did not know her daughter was married.

Philadelphia, June 15 —(AP)—Jerome Herman Dean, better known as "Dizzy" has left the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dean caught a train for St. Louis early today, declaring he was through with the world champions because they had not treated him right.

One of the most eccentric pitchers in the major leagues since the days of Rube Waddell, he has kept the St. Louis club on tenterhooks dealing with his pranks all season. Several times before he had threatened to quit.

It was learned from reliable sources that Dean felt that he had not received favors from the Cardinals which he desired and left the city in a huff.

"Dean has no real grievances against the Cardinals," Gabby Street, manager of the club, said. "He has been treated fairly, but he is a hard proposition to handle."

GANGSTER FOUND SHOT

Detroit, June 15 —(AP)—The body of Milford Jones, said to have been an associate of Fred Burke, notorious gangster now serving a life term in prison, was found in a cabaret at 47 Rowena street this morning in a bullet wound through the back.

Police questioned Jack Green, proprietor of the cabaret, and took into custody three young women who were in the place at the time of the shooting. They said the shooting apparently occurred about 5 A. M.

Jones, formerly of St. Louis, was said to have been a companion of Burke and Gus Winkler, recently freed of bank robbery charges.

NEED VITAMIN B

Chicago —The learning ability of children is influenced to a marked degree by the presence of vitamin B in the nursing diet, according to Dr. Siegfried Maurer, associate professor of pathology at the University of Chicago here. Dr. Maurer's conclusions are based on extensive research conducted with mice.

A cotton ball wad was found dangling from a wash basin in a Greensboro, North Carolina department store.

Receiver Reports On Mid West Today

Chicago, June 15 —(AP)—The first receiver report since the huge Atlanta West Utilities, Insull holding company, went into federal receivership, has been submitted to the United States District Court and reports profits and losses of three subsidiaries between Jan. 1 and April 14 of this year.

The report, filed yesterday by Receiver Samuel W. White, states United Public Service Company lost $3,962, and Southern United Gas Company $29,397 during that period while United Public Utilities had profits of $93,419.

Book assets of the three as of April 14 1932 were evaluated at $23,904,854 for United Public Service; $32,445,629 for United Public Utilities, and $6,306,905 for Southern United Gas.

The United Public Service group, the report showed owed $5,957,500 to the Middle West system and subsidiaries; $456,500 to banks and $10,000 to other creditors.

Trio Of Robbers Surrounded Today

Grant Park, Ill. June 15 —(AP)—Three men who robbed the First National Bank of $1500 today were reported surrounded in a woods seven miles east of here after abandoning their automobile in the face of pursuit from state and Kankakee county officers.

Farmers said they saw the trio leave their bullet-scarred car in a country lane and run to cover. State Highway Police and Sheriff's deputies were called. Shortly before dawn, a car containing Cashier Arthur Ruge of the dispossessed bank had given up the chase.

Bullet holes, made by Ruge's pistol during the chase, were found in the rear of the abandoned machine.

Experiments by civil engineers at Iowa State college show that the way concrete is "cured" has much effect on its water-tightness.

"GENERAL" COXEY WILL CARRY HIS CASE TO COURTS TO GET OHIO'S VOTE FOR PRESIDENT

Chicago, June 15 —(AP)—Prospects loomed today that the Federal Court will be asked to interfere if the Ohio state delegation to the Republican national convention fails to back Mayor Jacob S. Coxey of Massillon, O., for the Presidential nomination.

Coxey, leader of the famous "Coxey's Army" of unemployed men to Washington in 1894, on arrival here yesterday was to "force" the Ohio delegates to support him.

He carried a certified copy of the results of the Ohio primary issued by Secretary of State C. J. Brown and showing Coxey led the presidential preference field with 7,994 votes.

"I mean to take the matter up with the Credentials committee of the convention at once," the "General" said. "If I am refused the Ohio delegates' support I shall go before a Federal judge and mandamus them to cast their votes for me."

IS EMPTY HONOR
Columbus, O., June 15 —(AP)—Although Mayor Jacob S. Coxey of Massillon received the largest number of votes in Ohio's presidential preferential primary, Ohio laws do not require the state's presidential delegation to support him.

The Ohio preferential primary is an empty honor and was not even entered by President Hoover, to whom the entire Buckeye Republican delegation is pledged. President Hoover was an easy winner in the primary contests for delegates, with former Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland as his only opponent.

COUNCIL TO GET

SALES OF BONDSAnother Step Toward the Purchase Of Water
Works Is Taken

Steps to effect the purchase of the Dixon Water Company property were taken at last evening's meeting of the city council in the introduction of a resolution by Mayor Dixon, which was unanimously adopted by the commission. The text of the resolution is as follows:

"Whereas, the franchise of the Dixon Water Company will expire July 18, 1933, and a resolution of this Council was heretofore served on the company of the City's intention to purchase the property of the company by paying the fair cash market value thereof, the cost of same to be paid by the issuance of Water Revenue Bonds, and the property of the company has been appraised by engineers acting for the City, and also by engineers on behalf of the company, and there have been offers by investment bankers to purchase such Water Revenue Bonds from the City; and

"Whereas, the terms and conditions upon which such Water Revenue Bonds may be sold is important and should be ascertained before any agreement is made by the City to purchase the property of the company; Therefore "Be it resolved that the mayor is directed to forward a copy of this resolution to investment bankers who have requested an opportunity to bid on such Water Revenue Bonds, and such others as he may consider might be interested in same, and all investment bankers are hereby requested to submit their financing proposals to the City of Dixon in the following manner:

1. By written proposals specifying that the bidder agrees to purchase and accept delivery of such Water Revenue Bonds in an

PURPOSES TAX-PAYERS' WERE TOLD TO BOARDSupervisors Pledge Cooperation With Association

Frank C. Sproul and Dr. W. F. Aydelotte of the Dixon Township Taxpayers Association addressed the Board of Supervisors at the opening of their session Tuesday afternoon, outlining the plans and purposes of the organization which is rapidly becoming county wide.

Each of the supervisors was furnished with the program of activity outlined by the organization. Chairman Gilbert P. Finch informed the delegation present the board of supervisors were heartily in accord with the program and he expressed the opinion of the board in stating that the supervisors were anxious to cooperate in every way possible.

Supervisor Lucien Hemmaway of Alto township, presented a motion suggesting that the chairman appoint a committee of members of the board to confer and cooperate with the association which was unanimously carried by the vote of the Supervisors. Chairman Finch stated that he would name the committee at this session.

The road and bridge committee recommended the granting of the permit sought by the Illinois Northern Utilities Company of this city in the erection of an electrical transmission line in Dixon township, the board adopting the recommendation.

The road and bridge committee in a report recommended to the board disapproved the adoption of the accounting system outlined by the state Department of Public Works and Buildings particularly at this time, the report stating that in their opinion the board was not justified in appropriating the necessary expenditure. The recommendation was unanimously adopted by the board.

House Approves Bonus Payments

Washington, June 15 —(AP)—Immediate cash payment of the $2,400,000,000 soldiers' bonus certificates—demanded by the 20,000 former service men bivouacked in the Capital—was approved today by the House.

The measure now goes to the Senate, where leaders claimed enough votes for rejection. President Hoover has promised a veto if the bill reaches the White House.

The Patman bill passed by the House would redeem bonus certificates at their face value in new Treasury notes distributed to the veterans through the Federal Reserve Banks.

Before final approval the measure was amended to provide an equal issue of government bonds to be used for retiring the currency if the dollar became too cheap.

"The vote for the measure was 208 to 176," Senator Thomas (D. Okla.) planned to ask for an immediate vote in the Senate when the bill reached there from the House.

This would require unanimous consent to dispense with the usual procedure of referring the bill to a committee, but leaders indicated they would accept the suggestion.

SENATE CHANGES MIND

Washington, June 15 —(AP)—Changing its mind within a half hour, the Senate today voted 49 to 20 to take up the Brookhart resolution for creating a standing committee on veterans' legislation.

"FORWARD TO VICTORY" IS BATTLE SONG

Snell Extolls the President's Record In Address Today

Chicago, June 15 —(AP)—Representative Bertrand H. Snell, permanent chairman of the Republican National convention, told its delegates today that the solidarity of their party in "this crisis means the salvation of the United States." The New York Herald alternated denunciation of the Democrats and praise of President Hoover but like Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, in the keynote speech yesterday, he did not mention prohibition.

"By long trial in the actual responsibility of conducting the government," Snell said, "the Republican party has become capable of governing."

He asserted that outside the Republican party is "confusion and chaos" in its own ranks. How can it be expected to maintain order in government?

In support of charges that the Democratic party is "fatally weak" because it is "utterly lacking in team work," Snell referred to the House of Representatives of which he is Minority Leader.

"Colossal incapacity" placed in control when he said, the opposition did well enough as long as it followed the President but once they "set out to carry forward their own program they exhibited colossal incapacity, hopeless division and disintegration with the result that there was a complete collapse of their party machinery."

"The Democratic party is a mob of feud and factions," he continued, "unable to bring order out of chaos in its own ranks. How can it be expected to maintain order in government?"

Then followed: "If this country is to be governed with judgment and prudence the Republican party must do the job."

Praise of party policies, accompanied by the claim that the Smoot-Hawley tariff has been "the bulwark of defense against world-wide depression" was mingled with tributes to the Chief Executive.

"The 'emergency' was described as the 'greatest pestilence of world wide depression' and Mr. Hoover was termed well prepared for the task of combating it."

Record Is Known
"You know the record," Snell said. "You know the battles he had already won."

"He solidified labor and capital against the enemy."

"He avoided the deadly pit of the debt."

"He rescued the drought victims."

"He beat off the attacks upon railroads, agriculture, banks and public securities."

"He mobilized the nation's financial resources."

"He warded off the stealthy approach of panic by way of Germany."

"He preserved the integrity of the gold standard."

"He had the manhood and courage to tell the people that their government's revenues were depleted and must be replenished."

"He fought and won the battle of the budget, by resolutely lopping off extravagance and by instituting 'wage economies'."

Snell's last words to the enthusiastic delegates were: "Forwards to victory."

DEMONSTRATION FOR HOOVER IS
FEATURE TODAYThe Convention Adjourned
Until Evening To Hear Platform

By BYRON PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer
Chicago Stadium, June 15 —(AP)—With a new show of confidence, the Hoover helmsmen steered the Republican convention unflinchingly today through a second session which raised enthusiasm to the peak of a twenty-minute demonstration for the President.

In old-time fashion, delegates from every state paraded their banners to the tune of "California, Here I Come," singing and clapping their hands, laughing and yelling, determined, it seemed, to leave no doubt that this is a Hoover convention.

Then they got through some routine business, and adjourned until 8 P. M. when the battle over a prohibition plank is to go to the floor and probably sweep on far into the night.

Set Off Fireworks
It was a mention of the President's name by Congressman Snell of New York, in his inaugural as permanent chairman of the convention, which set off the Hoover fireworks. After quiet was restored, Snell went on with a speech hammering the Democrats in picturesque phrase, and praising Republicanism in rounded periods that broke the big stadium crowd into repeated cheering.

The only actual business of the short morning session was ratification of the work of several committees. It all went off with dispatch. Even a credentials controversy settling the explosive controversy over southern leadership, and excluding the veteran "Tieless Joe" Tolbert of South Carolina from the convention, was adopted without a word of debate or a roll call.

Meantime, over in the politics-crammed conference rooms of the Congress hotel on Michigan Avenue, the platform committee still wrestled with prohibition. But nearing the end of its road, it promised a tentative plank would be ready for distribution to state delegations during the afternoon.

Second Place In Air
The Vice Presidency remained as much up in the air as ever, although the second renunciation by Charles C. Dawes started at least a momentary upturn in the stock of Vice President Curtis.

Weary from all-night conferences, the delegates came together slowly and listlessly. It was 11:52 o'clock before the gavel finally fell, and then things moved along on a time-killing basis, for the big business of the platform and its prohibition plank was far from ready for the convention floor.

A Republican rally speech by Congressman Snell, which brought about the first parade of standards, and ratification of a credentials committee report reading the veteran out of the convention, was about all there was to this second get-together of the big main show.

As everybody stood with bowed head, the prayer was read by Monsignor Thomas P. Bona of Chicago, who petitioned for a spirit of justice and generosity to all "regardless of race or creed."

Without a pause, Albert W. Jeffries of Omaha, chairman of the Credentials committee, began to read his report.

By Acclamation
It was ratified by acclamation and without debate, marking an almost complete victory for the Hoover forces who for three years have been endeavoring to purge certain southern party organizations of what they regarded as undesirable elements.

Then Miss Katherine Byrne of Connecticut, chairman of the committee on Permanent Organization, stood up on the platform amid applause, and presented the slate of agree-upon convention officers, headed by Snell.

She was the first woman to address the delegates. She got through her short task without hesitation, and in very business-like manner. A bright red hat, topped a pale blue suit, bobbed and nodded to emphasize her sentences.

Women Were Escorts
The committee report adopted by acclamation, retiring Chairman Dickinson appointed three women to escort Snell to the chair.

They were Mrs. Bertha Baur of Chicago, Mrs. Alvin T. Hertz of

"Dig Up Today Or Get Out" Is Edict To G. O. P.

Chicago, June 15 —(AP)—Sidney Strotz, General Manager of the Chicago Stadium, told the Republicans today to dig up $8,500 they owe him "or you won't have a hall tomorrow morning."

Stortz said the amount is the balance due for construction work. "I've got the hall my money," he said. "It must be paid tonight or the Republicans won't have any hall tomorrow morning."

Ralph "Reggie" Rotrammel, formerly of this city and Oregon, and James Herrell of Tennessee, were taken in custody early yesterday by Patrolman Harry Jones, who found the pair sleeping in a box car in the Northwestern yards. Rotrammel is held at the county jail on a bench warrant, after being indicted several months ago on a statutory charge. Herrell was sent to the county jail on a vagrancy charge and is to be taken in to the County Court on an information the latter part of the week.
WARNING ISSUED
Several Dixon citizens who recently have replied to an advertisement of a Chicago firm, offering positions in this vicinity, have inquired at the local Chamber of Commerce offices for information concerning the firm. Through an investigation which has been conducted, the Dixon Chamber office has been informed that the firm offers a collection and protective service and requires of their prospective employees, a cash deposit of $75 to cover the cost of supplies and a bond. It also developed that the firm has changed its name three times since November 1918 and this information is being given out to the Dixon applicants who have answered the advertisement, as a warning.
Recently, a local resident turned over $10 to an individual purporting to represent a similar agency in Davenport, Iowa, and an inquiry launched from the Chamber of Commerce office developed the fact that no such an organization was in existence and the purported agent was not known.

Unused Attic
OF SCHOOL WAS
TRAMP'S ABODEThe Directors Of Lievan
School Discovered
Unusual "Home"

An unknown transient cleverly sawed a hole two-foot square, in the roof of the Lievan school, south of the city on the Pump factory road, and made his home in the unused attic for several days, while school was in session, preparing his food at night in the furnace without being detected. This became known late yesterday afternoon when Sheriff Fred Richardson summoned to the school by members of the board of directors the attic while making repairs to the roof.

A section of the roof about two foot square had been sawed away to permit its entrance, and on the inside of the building the stranger had established his quarters. Bedding, cooking utensils and many articles believed to have been pilfered from nearby farm homes were strewn about in the attic, while evidence that the stranger had spent several days during the early spring in the building while the school was in session. Pupils had heard unusual noises about the building during school hours but no investigation had ever been made.

Holes had been cut with a jack knife in the roof to permit light and ventilation. A depression in the roof where the point of entry had been effected, attracted members of the school board who yesterday sent a workman to make necessary repairs. It was not until that time that the discovery was made and Sheriff Richardson was immediately summoned to investigate. A large amount of effects were removed from the attic by the board members and the Sheriff, but the lone inhabitant had apparently left his place of abode several days ago.

A small coffee mill was nailed to the rafters and more than two bushels of ear corn was found in the attic. From all appearances the tramp had carried the corn into the attic from rats on farm-ers' cribs, where he shelled it and ground the kernels in the coffee grinder. Pans and kettles showed signs of having had the corn meal cooked up in large quantities, sufficient for several days subsistence. Milk cans and receptacles believed to have been taken from neighboring farms where milk was also taken, were also found in the attic. The stranger, the directors believed, had climbed down into the building at night and prepared his food in the school heating plant, then returned for several days without being discovered. All of the articles were removed from the unusual place of abode, where the stranger apparently lived for several days, sleeping during the day time and prowling about the vicinity during the night, gathering his provisions.

CROWD IS GIVEN STINGING REBUKE
G. O. P. Credentials Committee Censures Their "Treason"

Chicago, June 15—(AP)—A re-sounding rebuke to nine LaPollette members of the Wisconsin delegation and settlement of four vigorously debated southern contests ended the work early today of the Credentials committee of the Republican National Committee.

The charge against the LaPollette faction was that the nine committed a form of party treason by keeping their seats on the convention floor at the mention of President Hoover's name and also during a parade of flags.

Sixteen conservative members of the Wisconsin group gladly presented a resolution censuring the progressives for their action. Frank J. Schneller of Neenah being the spokesman. It was approved unanimously.

Indicative as it might be of strong feeling, this action did not have the finality of the denial of seats to a south Carolina delegation headed by the grizzled politician, "Fleiss Joe" Tolbert.

The administration pressed its opposition to him and won despite his 20 years as National Commit-tee member.

Program For Band Concert Friday Evening
Director Charles B. Price today announced the program to be given by the Dixon Civic band Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the high school athletic field. A platform will be constructed on the field in front of the grandstand, which will be lighted, and this it is believed will furnish an ideal site for future concerts. Howard Crews and Eugene Lebre are to be heard in vocal chorus numbers and "Bub" and "Buddy" Grimes in an xylophone specialty, accompanied by the band. The program, which those planning to attend the concert are requested to clip, is as follows:
1-March, "Ceremonial".....
2-Quadrille, "The Calph of Bagnad".....
A-Popular number—"Whistle and Blow the Blues Away".....
B-March "On the Mall".....
C-Courset waltz "Impassioned".....
D-Opera number—"The Cut Down the Did Pine Tree".....
E-March "Down the Street".....
National Anthem.

Kentucky and Mrs. Marion Margery of Scranton, Pa. They got the first real cheer of the session as they appeared at the front of the platform.
Snell also got a hand, then he launched into the manuscript of his speech. He sounded a little hoarse, but he had no difficulty making himself heard. He took it slowly, and the delegates and galleries liked his deliberate delivery and pounding gestures. They cheered him several times when he talked of past and hoped-for Republican victories and praised President Hoover.
When he declared the President "the one man in America who has furnished leadership in this great crisis" the delegates got to their feet, and the first demonstration of the convention began.
California State's It
California started it, singing a song which asked for "Hoover's train" to the tune of "My Glory Hallelujah." The C. J. Fornall kept it up, going on and on until a parade of standards started round the great oval of the delegate enclosure. Nearly every state standard was in it as the whooping delegates circled around.
Snell finally pounded for order and the demonstration slowly subsided after a quarter of an hour of noisy progress.
Snell concluded as more cheers swept the big hall, and presented Gen. James G. Harbord to report as chairman of the Rules committee. His offering, like those which had gone before, was accepted by acclamation.
The convention secretary had the attention of every delegate as he announced the copies of the prohibition plank as it emerges from the platform committee would be available at 2 P. M. to state delegations "wishing to consider the same at hold conferences thereout."
Without more ado, the convention adjourned.

Report Aviation Killed By Blacks
Wyndham, Australia, June 15—(AP)—Native runners came in today with stories that the missing German aviator, Capt. Hans Bertram, and his companion H. I. Chapman, had been "murdered by blacks."
Officials declined to accept their story until it was thoroughly checked, however, and went ahead with plans to send a launch to the spot where Bertram's plane was found yesterday near Drysdale Mission.
The two fliers vanished en route from Kupang Island, Australia, to Darwin, May 17.

SUMMER DAYS

JIMMIE, when June days have come
Puts his books away,
Thinks of all he means to do
Every living day;
Thinks of hikes and playing ball,
Making this and that,
How he'll train himself to be
A mighty acrobat.

Jimmie, when July is here,
Weeds the garden bed,
Feels the sun a-shining warm
On his bare brown head;
Plans to buy an ice-cream cone
When his work is done,
Plans to seek the swimming pool
Where there's always fun.

Jimmie, during August heat,
Lies beneath a tree
Watching cloud-shapes in the sky
Floating lazily;
Wonders if he's lazy too,
Thinks with some chagrin
Summer's almost over now—
School will soon begin.

Thursday Reading Circle Meeting; Officers Elected

The Thursday Reading Circle met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Watts and Clea Bunnell.

Mrs. George Smith read the chapters from the study book and two piano numbers were given by Constance Bunnell, granddaughter of the hostesses.

The annual election of officers was held. The officers of the previous year were re-elected with the exception of Mrs. Ida Bishop, who asked to be relieved of her duties as vice president. Miss Bess Decker being elected to fill the vacancy.

Plans for the picnic to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Dodd in Grand Detour were made.

At the close of the afternoon a delicious luncheon was served by the hostesses.

Miss Jones Honored at Luncheon

Mrs. Gerald Jones on Tuesday entertained with a charming bridge luncheon at the Dixon Country Club, honoring Miss Winnifred Jones, who is soon to become the bride of Ligouri Welch.

Pink and white were the dainty colors for the decorations for prettily appointed luncheon, summer flowers in these shades accenting the artistic effect.

Miss Helen Cahill was awarded the favor for high honors at bridge.

Miss Eleanor Hennessy was awarded the second favor, and Mrs. Claire Schrock the consolation favor. Miss Jones was presented the guest favor.

Coffee

Fruit Gelatin Salad

1 package lemon flavored gelatin
1-2 cups boiling water
1-3 cup boiling pineapple juice
1 cup diced pineapple
1-2 cup red cherries
Pour water and juice over gelatin mixture and stir until dissolved. Cool. Add rest of ingredients. Pour into glass mold. Chill until still. Unmold on lettuce and top with salad dressing.

Cherry Pudding

4 tablespoons fat
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2-3 cup milk
1-2 cups seeded cherries
1-4 teaspoon salt
2 cups flour
1-2 teaspoon soda
1-1-2 teaspoons baking powder
Cream the fat and sugar. Add eggs and milk. Add rest of ingredients and beat 2 minutes. Pour into shallow, greased pan. Bake 25 minutes in moderate oven. Cut in squares and serve warm.

Creamy Sauce

1-2 cup butter
2 cups confectioner's sugar
1-3 cup cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-2 teaspoon almond extract
Cream butter and add sugar. Beat until very creamy. Add cream. Dissolve over pan of hot water. When thin add rest of ingredients and serve at once.

Use the long handled corn popper for the picnics to roast the corn or hamburgers over the glowing fire.

For grease spots on silks, cover with talcum powder and let stand one hour. Brush off, if the stain remains add more powder and let stand over night.

Meeting Nelson Unit Home Bureau

The meeting of the Nelson Unit of the Home Bureau was held at the home of Mrs. C. C. Buckaloo near Dixon.

The lesson on "Preserving Food" for winter use was ably given by the local leader, Mrs. Ward Hartshorn.

A demonstration on how to find peck in fruit juices was given. One new member was welcomed to the unit.

A harmonica solo was played by Mrs. Aaron Fluck after which games were enjoyed on the spacious lawn. The Lee Co. Home Bureau are sponsoring a large number of Four-H clubs which any girl ten years of age are eligible. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Fritha Ringler.

Lester Shelly Weds Virginia Girl

Announcement is made of the wedding of Miss Marguerite Swann of Virginia Beach, Va., to Lester Shelly of Oregon, who is prominent in Ogden county affairs. The ceremony took place in Philadelphia last Thursday at the home of an uncle of the bride.

The groom attended William and Mary college and then went to Atlantic college. He and Mrs. Shelly will live in Virginia Beach, where he will be in business.

A QUEST

By HELEN WELSHIMER

So often I have followed someone tall
Because his walk reminded me of you,
I've traced him for a block, or maybe more,
And wondered if he talked the way you do.
But one time in a rain-splashed summer dusk,
When lilac trees were dim and overcast,
I thought I saw you coming down the road,
And turned my head, and chose another street.

I WAS afraid that you might read my face,
And find the dreams you thought I'd thrown away.

I knew that if you touched my hand and smiled,
Gay, foolish words would be too hard to say,
But now I think your dear eyes might have held
Warm memories, close-patterned on my own—
So often I have followed someone tall
To find it is someone I've never known.

Beautiful June Wedding Tuesday; Christian Church

One of the most beautiful, yet simple weddings of June took place Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Christian church, when Miss Opal Pauline Mossholder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mossholder of 215 Dixon avenue, and Cortez Harold Hahn, of Webster City, Ia., were united in marriage.

Rev. J. A. Barnett, pastor of the church, received the vows of the young people, in an impressive service, the ring ceremony being given.

The wedding was solemnized in the presence of a large company of guests, relatives and friends, the church being attractively decorated for the occasion in pink and white.

The flowers being pink roses and pink peonies and ferns, in graceful bouquets and baskets, making a floral background for the bride.

Seating reserved for the invited guests were roped off with pink and white streamers. Guests were seated by the ushers who were Kenneth Mossholder, Duane Wood, Kenneth Ruby, and Leo Miller.

Clinton Fahney presided at the organ and played a program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony, and accompanied Mrs. Ethel Hackbarth as she sang "Godman's True".

As the bride procession entered the church Mr. Fahney led the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin. The bride and her attendants were met at the altar by the bridegroom, Rev. Barnett and the best man.

John Madex attended Mr. Hahn as best man and the bride's attendants were her sisters, Mrs. Gladys Kime as matron of Honor; and Miss Edna Mossholder as bride-maid. Miss Mossholder was given in marriage by her father, Clyde Mossholder.

The bride was lovely in her wedding gown of pale pink muslin and she wore pink silk shoes. The panels being ruffled. She wore pink silk mesh mitts and pink tulle gloves and carried a huge arm bouquet of pink roses. All accessories were in the delicate pink shade.

Mrs. Kime and Miss Edna Mossholder were charming in their pastel colored frocks; Mrs. Kime wearing white embroidered organdie over blue satin, with a matching sash of blue; and Miss Mossholder wearing orchid net over silk, with accessories matching.

The matron of honor carried pink roses and the bridesmaid pink roses and purple asters.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home for a few invited guests, relatives and friends, where Mr. and Mrs. Hahn were congratulated and best wishes for happiness extended to them. Delicious refreshments were served. The home was beautifully decorated in pink and white.

Streamers, candles, pink roses and peonies, made the dining room an artistic bower, and here the bride cut the cake. Assisting in serving were Miss Esther Foxley, Ruby Yarde, Leona Ott, Helen McGonigle, Isabelle Wollaston.

Mr. and Mrs. Hahn were given an impromptu ride about town and on returning home they left on a motor trip to Jefferson City, Mo., where they will visit his parents.

and will then motor to Webster City, Ia., where they will make their home, which is ready for occupancy. The bride wore a modish costume in dark blue travel crepe.

Mr. Hahn, who is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hahn of Columbia, Mo., attended high school in Jefferson City, Mo., and the University of Missouri at Columbia.

He is a member of Delta Sigma Phi and Delta Sigma Pi fraternities. For the year of 1928 he was president of Delta Sigma Phi, and is the present president of the alumni association.

Mr. Hahn was for more than a year assistant to manager John Madex of the Dixon Scott store and is now manager of a Scott store in Webster City, Ia. Attesting the young man's ability to make friends is the fact that he has recently been made a member of the Kiwanis club at Webster City. He has an engaging personality and made many friends during his stay here.

Mr. Hahn is a very charming girl, possessing to a great extent the rare characteristic of sincerity, combined with unusual sweetness in disposition, winning for her countless friends. She is a graduate of the Dixon high school of the class of 1927, and since that time has been librarian and operator.

Some Odd Uses For Festive Radish

Every time the housewife goes to market these days she is tempted by scarlet radishes. They are so attractive and add such a bright touch of color to spring menus.

In order to take advantage of a "three-bunches-for-one" bargain, she frequently finds herself with more on hand than can be used merely as a relish and faces the possibility of waste. The waste can be averted, however, by serving cooked radishes in the following meal and they are sure to be liked, unusual as the dish may seem.

As a relish radishes are always popular. They come early in the spring and do much to whet the different appetites. The small, round, red radishes—often called "breakfast" radishes—are delicately flavored and delightfully colorful. The long white varieties have a bitey tang and decided crispness that people like. The long red varieties are more apt to be woody than any other kinds. There is a round white radish that tastes much like the round red one but is less liable to pithiness.

"Crisping" Red Radishes
When an attractive garnish is wanted the red button radishes should be chosen. They must be scrubbed immaculately clean before using. Let stand in ice water until crisp and serve immediately on removing from water.

Radish sandwiches are splendid to serve with fish salads. The white varieties can be used for these.

Although radishes have little food value in the way of muscle-building calories, they do have a distinct place among the mineral and ballast foods. The ash constituents are much the same as the yellow turnip and beet. The high content of indigestible structure with its water-holding properties gives it a peculiar laxative effect.

If children under ten years of age are allowed to eat radishes they should be warned to "chew them up fine."

Creamed radishes are a very good dish and many women in the country who face a fresh vegetable shortage just at this season of the year will find the recipe well worth keeping in mind.

Radishes au Gratin
Three cups round red radishes, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 3-4 cup milk, 1-4 cup water, in which radishes were parboiled, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons grated cheese, 4 tablespoons buttered bread crumbs.

Wash radishes carefully and cut off root and stem. Cook in boiling salted water for fifteen minutes. Drain, saving 4 tablespoons water for sauce. Put radishes into a buttered baking dish and cover with sauce made by cooking butter and flour together and adding milk and radish water. Sprinkle top with crumbs and grated cheese and bake in a moderately hot oven for fifteen minutes to melt the cheese and brown the top. Serve from baking dish.

The radishes can also be cooked in a white sauce without first cooking in water. Cook in double boiler or in a casserole in a slow oven. Cooking in water has a tendency to make them lose their color. Garnish with sprigs of parsley and serve on hot buttered toast.

She Is Saviour Of The Nation's Historic Flags

Philadelphia, June 15—Here in the city here Betsy Ross stitched the first American flag from a design presented by George Washington, a modern expert needle worker is devoting her skill to have sacrifice, glory and her duty.

Preserving emblems of a nation's history is a task of no small importance. The flags of the United States, which have become faded, yellowed and time-worn through the long years.

In the hands of Mrs. Katherine Fowler Richey, wife of Commander Thomas B. Richey, of the Philadelphia Navy yard war-torn banners that have been shot full of fragments become again and are preserved so remarkably that they are certain to last for many, many future generations.

Mrs. Richey, who in the last three years has preserved more than 500 state flags for Vermont, Massachusetts and New Jersey, as well as the famous Barbours Washington, a modern expert needle worker is devoting her skill to have sacrifice, glory and her duty.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

(Copyright by NEA Service Inc.)

The other day I held a baby on my lap. Did he sit up like a good little poodle and lap up my croons and pats? Did he give me any chance to enjoy him by giving little bursts to my feelings in the way of hugs and kisses?

No, he didn't care a toot who held him. And instead of fitting in with the outlines of my lap, he settled himself quietly so as to be comfortable and cozy, he curled that backbone of his over into a parabola and reached for a lace scarf on a table.

His lightning-like little fingers would get hold of it quicker than my eyes could follow, or his mother's. And every trinket on that table was rescued over and over again just as it was tilting to the floor.

"No, no, mustn't touch," said his mother, smiling at first, then fretfully, then sternly.

"I'll move my chair," I said. "I should have done it before."

"He has to learn not to touch things," she said. "I dread the time when he learns to walk."

"You can't teach him not to touch things now," I told her. "You might just as well tell him he mustn't eat when you hand him his bottle. When he walks it will be the same thing."

"Well, he will have to learn some time soon, anyway," she insisted. "I am not going to have all my wedding presents broken as Anne did when Bobby was young. The time to teach them to take care of things is when they are little."

"How little?"

"Well, when he starts to run around."

"How to Teach Lesson?"

"What are you going to do? Lead him up to that Capi di Mont urn and say, 'Look, Georgie, this cost fifty dollars. Georgie mustn't touch.' Or point out the alabaster lamp on the small stand and say, 'Nice lamp—pretty lamp! No hannies must ever touch it, lamp.'"

"No indeed I will slap his hands. Georgie mustn't touch nice pretty things. If he learns to associate my good things with a little smart on his fingers, he will keep away from them."

"All right," I conceded. "No urn, no lamp, no table cover must be touched—little slaps all over the room. But suppose some one leaves the china cupboard door open some day and he gets in and

SHADOW BOXING AT GENEVA.

The men who are attending the disarmament conference at Geneva seem to be having their troubles.

Press cables the other day reported that the delegates are utterly unable to agree on what caliber guns should be classified as "offensive" weapons. They are trying to make such a classification because of the American proposal that "offensive" weapons be abolished or internationalized.

Italy and Russia want every gun whose bore has a greater diameter than 100 millimeters (about four inches) classed in the "offensive" list. Germany wants a limit of 77 millimeters. The United States, France, Japan and Great Britain are sticking for a limit of 155 millimeters.

Naturally, since there is such a divergence of views, the boys are having a hard time getting together. But they need not despair. Their efforts, after all, are not being wasted. For, in spite of themselves, they are demonstrating to the world how utterly futile and worthless a disarmament conference can be if it is based, as this one is, on faulty foundations.

Suppose that complete and perfect agreement could be reached about the guns. What then? Would the possibility of future war be made one hair's breath more remote? Would the horrors of such a war be in the slightest degree lessened?

The answer, in each case, is "No"—very obviously. For this conference seems to be not so much a disarmament conference as a despairing effort by world statesmen to maintain the status quo, with all of its seeds of international strife, while at the same time giving an appearance of working for world peace. It is not going to result in disarmament because nobody who is taking part in it really wants it. It is an excellent display of shadow boxing, but as far as that hypothetical "next war" is concerned it has about as much effect as a meeting of the high school debating society.

This squabble over gun sizes is the tip-off.

A HEALTHY SIGN.

A Washington correspondent, discussing developments in the Democratic pre-convention campaign the other day, remarked that there is in Washington "a growing feeling that the Chicago meeting will involve a fight over party principles as well as the struggle over the presidential nomination."

This is interesting, not so much for what it says as for the fact that its author found it worth saying at all. It implies quite clearly, you see, that party principles do not ordinarily come up for much discussion at the great party nominating conventions. They stay in the background, ignored by common consent, and today one who has not studied political history a bit can hardly tell the difference between the two parties.

The correspondent's forecast, then, is rather encouraging. If both parties would have "a struggle over party principles" every so often, our political life would be a whole lot healthier.

UNIFORM DIVORCE LAWS.

The proposal for uniform divorce laws in all the states of the Union, revived the other day at the Methodist Episcopal General Conference, seems to be one of those ideas that are fine in theory but very hard to put into practice.

Considering the wide differences that exist between the various state divorce laws, one wonders how all of the states could ever be got to agree on a uniform code. Should such a code follow New York's law, for instance, recognizing only one ground for divorce? Or should it follow Ohio's and grant divorces for everything from desertion to "cruelty"? Or should it go even farther and copy the laws of Arkansas and Nevada?

The practical difficulties in the way of such a scheme seem very great. Uniformity may be desirable, but it might prove uncommonly difficult to obtain.

YALE'S DECISION.

It is not probable that anyone will quarrel very greatly with Yale University's decision to curtail sharply its intercollegiate athletic program during the year 1933.

Cutting down the football schedule to five games seems to mark a radical change in policy, certainly, as does the decision to admit under-graduates free to all games and to abolish scouting. Yet it seems clear that these changes will be for the better.

The really significant thing in President Angell's announcement of the change was his remark that the primary emphasis hereafter will be placed on intramural sports "for fun and informality." Sports for fun, and not for receipts and prestige—that, after all, is what sports are for. If other colleges and universities decide to follow n Yale's path, everybody concerned will be better off.

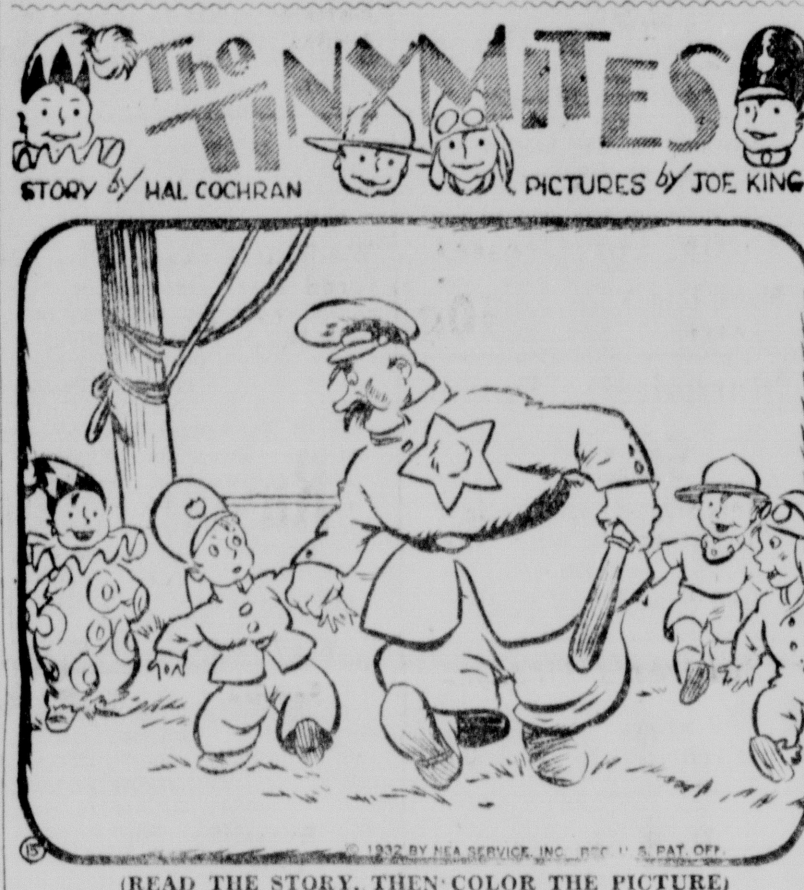

What's the matter with boys over here? I went out with a boy and had to punch him to make him behave. I never had such trouble in Shanghai. But I love Hollywood.—Lydia Roberti, movie importation, who once landed in a Shanghai cafe.

The calliope was going strong and soon some small girls came along. "Let's have a dance," cried Windy. "I'm clever on my two feet."
"We've met these little girls, so we can be as friendly as can be," said Coppy. "Let's hear the others laugh again. The show cop joined the laughter and gave Coppy quite a poke. "Aw, don't you start to worry, son," said he. "The whole thing is a joke."

WILL R. SHARKEY, PUBLISHER OF THE MARTINEZ (CALIF.) GAZETTE, SAYS:

THAT advertising is a recognized business stimulant. It is the best stabilizer business can buy. Advertising is an investment that nets the advertiser good interest. It is just as essential in the development and operation of a business enterprise as any other factor that enters into the business—in fact, is the most important factor. Too often a merchant is inclined to view advertising in the light of an expense, and therein he errs.

Advertising is like any other investment; it must be carefully and judiciously handled. A merchant carries a certain line of merchandise because it is what the people desire, therefore an investment in that line. The investment is useless, however, unless he makes it known to people he is carrying that line. The best method of approach to the public is through newspaper advertising. And if well placed readable advertising attracts people to his store, it is up to the merchant to do the rest. If the merchandise is not of a quality people desire, or if his salesmanship cannot deliver what a customer seeks service, the advertising has availed him nothing. On the other hand, if the merchandise has the quality and the salesmanship does deliver, the advertising is one of his best investments.

Advertising has demonstrated that it can and will attract customers. No business can successfully operate without it and the bankruptcy courts have their files clogged with those who believed they could do without it. We are living in the day of keen competition—in the day when the merchant must be honest with his public. To successful merchant is the legitimate advertiser who holds the confidence of his public. With him advertising is an investment that he safeguards with the same zeal with which he safeguards property investments. If he is honest in one he is honest in the other AND HE FINDS THAT IT PAYS GOOD INTEREST.

AUSTRIAN OFFENSIVE

On June 15, 1918, while German troops were retreating on the Oise front, Austro-Hungarian forces on the Italian front massed for a great offensive on a 97-mile line from the Asiago Plateau to the sea.

In their first encounters they were successful, crossing the Piave in several places and obtaining other small advantages. Secretary of War, Newton D. Baker announced that on this day more than 600,000 American troops were in France and that they had taken up large scale fighting on the western front.

CURING CANCER

If by cure we understand an effective remedy like that of diphtheria anti-toxin in the early stages of diphtheria quinine in malaria, or arsenic and mercury for syphilis, then we can say that there is as yet no universally effective cure for cancer known to medicine.

Nevertheless, cancer is a curable disease, and this is particularly true in those cases where the disease is discovered in its early stages.

Unfortunately, pain is seldom if ever an early symptom of cancer. It is true, of course, that certain forms of cancer, especially those affecting deep-seated internal organs, are not easy to diagnose or to treat.

On the other hand, cancer of the skin, for example, is a readily curable disease. Cancer of the lip, too, may be readily cured, particularly in its early stages.

Cancer of the lip begins as a small scaly patch. Commonly it is found on that portion of the lip where the cigarette, cigar or pipe stem has been held habitually.

When diagnosed early, cancer of the lip may be completely eradicated by treatment with radium, X-ray or surgery.

Cancer of the tongue, in its early stages, appears as a small, slightly tender projection on the tip or surface of the tongue.

Contrary to most other cancer conditions, cancer of the tongue is painful.

As a common cause of this condition we find jagged, sharp or irregular teeth. This condition, too, is readily curable by radium and other forms of treatment.

Adequate care of the mouth, including dental service and good personal hygiene, contribute to the prevention of cancer of the tongue.

Cancer of the breast, the large bowel and of the uterus are also conditions which, if diagnosed early, lend themselves to effective treatment.

Intelligent vigilance, however, is the price of early discovery of cancer conditions.

CONFERENCE ON WORLD PROBLEMS OPEN THURSDAY

Statesmen Of World Gather For Talk On Finances

Lausanne, Switzerland, June 15.—Statesmen of a dozen European countries began arriving here today in preparation for the opening of the international conference tomorrow which will make this Swiss city the center of much of the world's hopes for economic recovery.

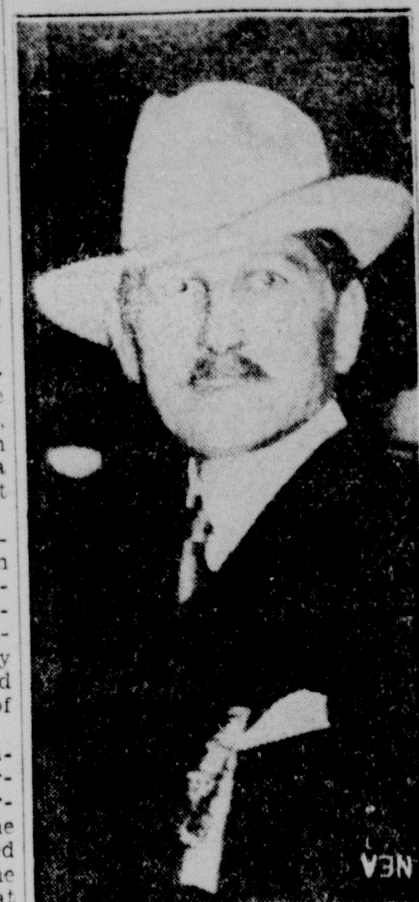

The first problem to be discussed is relief for Germany from the burden of reparations payments, more than $300,000,000 of which will fall due on July 15 unless a new arrangement is arrived at here.

The eve of the conference showed the whole problem shrouded in deep uncertainty. The most hopeful sign was the result of the conference last week-end in Paris between Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Edouard Herriot of France.

While Prime Minister MacDonald made it clear after the conference that there had been no bargaining or compromise, he said the British and French had discovered they were thinking along the same lines regarding the problems that have to be solved. A communique issued after the parleys said the Premier had "reached a common viewpoint."

A new moratorium, of from one to five years, was looked upon as the most likely solution of the reparations problem. No suggestion of repudiation of war debts in the event Germany is unable or unwilling to make further reparations payments was advanced from any responsible quarter.

Secretary of War at Republican Conclave

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, of Oklahoma, one of President Hoover's closest friends and mentioned as a possibility for the vice presidential nomination in the event Vice President Curtis is not renominated, is shown here. This picture was taken in the convention hall at Chicago as Hurley arrived for the opening session.

Harold G. Miller underwent a minor operation at the local hospital on Wednesday morning.

Royal Neighbors of Lee county will hold their annual convention at Compton June 22 in the high school gymnasium. The afternoon session opens at 1:15 and Supreme Physician, Hada M. Carlson will supervise the school of instruction. Deputy Louise C. Lindberg of Moline is in Compton making preparations. Neighbors are invited. All Royal Neighbors are invited. Evening session will open at 7:45.

Mrs. Fred Gilmore accompanied her son Bruce W. Gilmore and Mrs. Gilmore to Rockford Monday afternoon where they attended the graduation exercises of the Rockford college at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Gilmore's daughter Evelyn was a member of the graduation class, having completed her four years of college at Rockford.

A baby son was born to Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Card at Grand Rapids, Monday, June 13. Mrs. Francis Card's mother received word here Tuesday morning of the arrival of the child.

Clare V. Parker spent a few days during the past week working at the Dr. C. G. Pool flat in Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Thompson left last week for Columbia, Mo., where they will attend their second summer session at the University of Missouri.

Miss Helen Archer left Monday for DeKalb where she will spend the next six weeks attending the Northern Illinois Teachers' college there.

The old links is still with the Compton Oilers, as Earlville won over the local club at last Sunday's baseball game at Earlville by a score of 6 to 1. This win gives Earlville their first win in four starts, to tie with Creston, Rochelle and Compton for the cellar position.

Spohn's pitching was faultless, but due to the usual costly errors, the Rangers made six complete circuits out of the four hits allowed.

At Assembly Park

REV. C. H. ERICKSON

An interesting feature of the service last night at the Assembly Park Tabernacle was the showing of pictures of Japan by Rev. C. H. Erickson, who is conducting meetings there for two weeks. Rev. Erickson made a missionary tour of China and Japan some time ago, and took many pictures, a portion of which are shown each evening at the Tabernacle. These slides were tinted in Japan, and show the delicate coloring of the scenery and beauty of the temples. A few character studies of children were given last night, and a travel tour of the temple area Kyoto, Japan.

Rev. Erickson spoke on the subject of "Broken Vows," stating that "America needs to pay her vows to the Lord, then she can come and expect deliverance in her day of trouble. A sure cure of the depression will come when men and women begin to serve God with their whole heart. Most of the promises in the Bible have a condition given, and we must pay our vows before we can expect deliverance in this day of trouble." Rev. Erickson went on to cite many instances where God gave deliverance to whole countries as well as to people when they began to serve the Lord with their whole heart.

Mrs. Clarence H. Erickson, wife of the evangelist, has charge of the song service, and she and her husband sing each night.

A BOOK A DAY

Fred J. Ringel, a German who lives in New York as correspondent for certain Berlin newspapers, decided recently that Europeans had never been given a really good understanding of America. First he decided to write a book about America to set things right. Then he figured the job was too much for him, so he called in some two-score American writers and had them do the job for him and the result is "America as Americans See It". It's a book that can't be summed up in a paragraph very well. Parts of it are very good indeed; other parts are utterly useless. If its aim was to give foreigners a clear, comprehensive view of American life, it seems to me that it has failed, for any European sitting down to read it would arise more confused than ever. But then, maybe it is impossible for anyone to look at the whole American panorama without getting confused. Among the best chapters in the book it seems to me are those by R. L. Duffus on the great open spaces; by Elmer Davis on the American at leisure; by John Tunis on American sports; by R. E. Sherwood on Hollywood; by Stuart Chase on economics and by Elias Bent on advertising. Those that seem to me to fall flat include articles by Graham McNamee on radio by John Held, Jr., on college life and by an anonymous contributor on underworld gangs. You'll find enough good stuff in the book to make it worth your while and there are a hundred or more illustrations that help. But heaven pity the Europeans who reads it all and then thinks he understands America.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — When Marcus Coolidge of Massachusetts rolled up a plurality of some 113,000 votes to win a seat in the United States Senate in 1920, Washington observers set up and took notice. A man with the name of Coolidge sitting in the Senate was something that held promise. When he came down to the capital to take his seat everybody was anxious to get a glimpse of him. But Senator Coolidge has not as yet given indication of providing any of the things some expected of him. He has probably been the quietest man on the hill during the whole of this turbulent 72nd Congress.

He has come near equalling the late Dwight Morrow in that respect. Morrow didn't make a speech the whole time he was in the senate.

OTHERS HAVE SPOKEN—

Most of the new crop of senators who came in with the 72nd congress already have made their maiden speeches or participated from time to time in running debate.

But not Senator Coolidge. With the exception of the half dozen or so times he has arisen to introduce a bill, submit a routine committee report, or insert something in the appendix of the congressional record, he has been silent. He is always an early arrival for senate sessions, often the first to appear. He goes to his seat in the rear of the chamber on the democratic side and remains there through most of the session. Ever so often he strolls around, smiling a greeting to some colleague or stopping for a brief chat.

Beyond that, however, he has taken little active part in the deliberations of that body.

Perhaps, like Morrow, he wants first to learn the ways of the senate before he becomes really active. That was Morrow's idea. Then, too, perhaps he has seen how senate veterans delight in pouncing on the loquacious newcomer, and he doesn't care to risk that himself.

However, the real reason for his quietness is perhaps the man himself. He doesn't impress one as being the type that enjoys being in the limelight.

lected by democrats of the Lone Star state to manage the campaign of John N. Garner for President, is silent around Washington when asked about his candidature.

He's as reticent as "Mr. Speaker" himself when conversation shifts to Chicago and the democratic national convention. But it's different when Rayburn gets back to Texas among the "home folks." He really talks then — publicly and privately — about Garner and his chances with freedom and frankness.

For example, in Houston a few days ago, he said: "Garner will be second choice of more delegates at Chicago than any other candidate. At this blackest hour, they believe that in this rugged son of the soil they see another Jackson, and in this hour the people are crying out, 'O, for an hour of Andrew Jackson.'"

It's necessary too, to go to Texas to find out the extent of plans underway to obtain the nomination for Garner.

OPTIMISTIC OVER CHANCES—

"During the past three months," Rayburn told the "home folks," "I have talked with leading democrats from every state in the Union. They have told me of conditions in their state. For instance, a New Englander told me, 'Tell the people of Texas I go to the convention at Chicago solely because I want to cast a vote for Garner.'"

And then, a bit triumphantly, he added:

"In the great state of California our own Jack Garner won easily—with California's 44 and Texas' 46 we have more votes already cast than Harding or Davis had."

SILENT AT CAPITAL—

But, back in Washington Rayburn is again silent. Nothing in the way of a comment or statement comes from the room of the interstate and ocean commerce committee where Rayburn has his offices. There he'll talk to you at any time about the freight rates and the like.

But about Garner's chances of getting the nomination—never.

COSTLY TALENT OF LITTLE AID TO "MARSE JOE"

Yankees Forging Ahead With Team That Ended Second In '31

BY GAYLE TALBOT
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Yankees, plowing through the west and building up an imposing lead in the American League, owe very little of their success to the costly lot of new talent turned over to Manager Joe McCarthy this spring.

Except for the pitching staff, the club that today looks like an even bet to race on unchecked to the pennant is the same that finished second a year ago.

Gone are Jack Saltzgaver and Frank Crosetti, the expensive young stars who were supposed to "make" the Yankees infield, and in their places are Joe Sewell and Tony Lazzeri, veterans who have proved their worth. Crosetti still is around, but Saltzgaver has been sent to Newark. Earle Combs is back at his old outfield post, playing some of the greatest ball of his career.

All three played steady ball yesterday to help the leaders make it three out of four from Cleveland, 7 to 6, and give Danny MacFayden his first victory in a Yankee uniform. The Indians knocked MacFayden from the hill in the ninth and for the second successive day had the tying run on third at the final out.

Pulled Triple Steal
A triple steal gave the Yanks the winning run in the seventh. The Athletics made it three out of four from Detroit 10 to 5, and kept pace with the leaders as Jimmie Foxx propelled his 24th and 25th home runs of the year. As Washington was dropping another double in the eleventh, followed by a pair of sacrifices, yielded the winning run.

The St. Louis Browns' seventh over Washington was their victory in eight engagements this year. George Blacholder tamed the Senators most of the way while his mates knocked young Monte Weaver from the box and treated his successors roughly to win 17-3.

The Boston Red Sox beat Ted Lyons and the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4 in 11 innings. Al Van Camp's double in the eleventh, followed by a pair of sacrifices, yielded the winning run. Philadelphia and Cincinnati supplied all the action in the National League by dividing a doubleheader. The Phillies captured the first, 6 to 5, when they got to Owen Carroll for five hits and scored three times after two were out in the ninth, but the Reds came back behind John Ogden's steady pitching to take the nightcap, 5 to 2.

MANY ON ANXIUS SEAT

New York, June 15—(AP)—Many players unable to win a regular place in the lineup this spring occupied an uneasy seat today as managers pruned their rosters to the big league limit of 23 players effective at midnight.

Several clubs already were down to the minimum but others had put off the task until the last minute in hopes of making an advantageous sale, or trade with their surplus material.

The New York Yankees, already down to the limit through the release of Jack Saltzgaver to Newark, present the most unusual roster in either league. Manager Joe McCarthy has decided to carry 10 pitchers in his fight for the American League flag. The Philadelphia Athletics, on the other hand, will attempt to win with only seven hurlers.

Brooklyn finally got down to the limit yesterday through the disposal of Presco Thompson, Bruce Caldwell and Paul Richards. Only the other two being sent out on option.

The club gave Waite Hoyt, his outright release several days ago. The Giants cleared decks by sending Pitcher Roy Parmelee to Indianapolis on option and turning over Eddie Marshall to Montreal.

The outright release of Cliff Heathcote, veteran outfielder, placed the Cincinnati Reds within the limit while the St. Louis Cardinals sent Outfielder Ray Pepper back to Rochester and the Chicago White Sox shipped Jack Rothrock, another outfielder, to Toronto. The Detroit Tigers pared a man off their payroll when they traded Dale Alexander and Roy Johnson to Boston for Outfielder Earl Webb.

New Thousands Added To "Bonus City's" Population

A modern-day Mecca for increasing legions of ex-service men, "Bonus City" is seen in this aerial picture to have grown to vast proportions on its site on the outskirts of the national capital. Hundreds of new recruits arrive daily to take shelter in the conglomeration of rude shacks tents and sheds which make up the mushroom colony. Note how a semblance of military order has been achieved in setting up the shelters in regular rows. Line-ups of veterans, undergoing inspection, are visible on opposite sides of the encampment.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today—Primo Carnera, Italian ring giant, knocked out Pat Redmond, Irish heavyweight, in the first round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Ebbets field, Brooklyn. Phil Zwick Cleveland featherweight kayaked Irish Jimmy Slavin of New York in the second round at Madison Square Garden.

Five Years Ago Today—Sergeant Sammy Baker won a technical knockout victory from Ace Hudkins, Nebraska Wildcat welterweight, in the seventh round, and Sid Terris, New York lightweight, kayaked Ruby Goldstein of New York in the first round.

Ten Years Ago Today—Jesse Guilford of Boston, National amateur golf champion, lost two 18-hole encounters with T. D. (Tommy) Armour at Westchester-Biltmore Club. Armour took the first round 78 to 93 and the second 70 to 71.

Clowns Defeated Crippled Loafers

Merchants vs Swissville—Independent field.
Highlands vs City Dudes—south field.
Indians vs Red Men—north field.

The Clowns defeated the crippled Beier Loafers last evening by a score of 11 to 2, scoring in all but two innings of the game. Dusing, who caught for the Loafers was hit in the face by a foul ball and rendered unconscious, but recovered and played the remainder of the game.

The Railroaders led until the eighth inning by a score of 6 to 4. When the James billiard hall team bunched hits in a batting spree and won the game by a 9 to 6 score.

Wink's Specials swamped the De Molay crew at the north field, pounding Crews hard and taking advantage of costly errors, piled up a score of runs.

All of the games in both leagues are now running the full nine innings.

Wood's New Boat Is Three Tons Heavier

Detroit, June 15—(AP)—Radically different from her famous predecessors, the hull of Miss America X, newest of Gar Wood's creations for defense of the Harnsworth Trophy, today was a finished product.

When Kaye Don, English pilot, renews his challenge in September over the new Lake St. Clair course, he'll find a longer and vastly heavier craft than that which his Miss England II defeated in the first heat last year.

Despite the seven and a half ton weight of the Miss America X—the heaviest by three tons of any of the long line of Miss Americas—Wood is certain the hull is the fastest he has built.

Wood has attempted to combine safety with this extreme speed, and so almost doubled the weight of last year's defender in his new craft.

Stepenfetchit Is Favorite In Race

Chicago, June 15—(AP)—Mrs. J. H. Whitney's Stepenfetchit today had succeeded to the position of favorite for the American Derby, Washington Park's $50,000, which will be decided Saturday.

The Whitney star arrived late yesterday just in time to be installed as the early public choice.

COLLEGES' PROBLEM

Chicago, June 14—(AP)—One of the major problems confronting education at present, said President Irving Maurer of Beloit College, Beloit, Wis., today, is that of the small colleges that are existing on slim endowments or limited incomes.

Dr. Maurer is a member of the Committee of Six, which is composed of two representatives from three educational movements, namely the Council of Church Boards of Education, the Liberal Arts College Movement and the Association of American Colleges.

Amateur Golfers Start Tournament

Champaign, Ill., June 15—(AP)—Warren Dawson of Chicago, the defending titleholder, and more than 100 other golfers, today claimed the Champaign Country Club course for the purpose of opening the Illinois amateur championship tournament.

Young Jim Fouls of the Ruth Lake Club, Hinsdale, yesterday shot a 71, one under par, to snatch the state professional title with a 36-hole score of 15. His achievement gave him a lead of one stroke over Harry Hampton, veteran Chicagoan, who led the first 18 hole journey with a par 72. Lighthouse Harry Cooper of Chicago also shot a 71, but his 76 on Monday left him in third place with 147. Eddie Loos had 148 for fourth place and Sam Bernhardt of Chicago and Harry Rubendall of Preppert tied for the next place with 149's.

Among the amateurs pitted Dawson in the opening of the hole qualifying round were Dick Martin, former Big Ten champion; Scotty Reston and Sam Albert of this year's University of Illinois team; Yontz Bonnett, Jr., Bloomington; Russell Martin, Chicago; George Dawson, Chicago, and Charles Wems, Quincy.

ANNUAL BIBLE CONFERENCE TO BEGIN JUNE 26

Program Is Complete For Meetings At Assembly Park

The Rock River Bible Conference, which will be held in Dixon June 26 to July 3 in the Assembly Park auditorium, promises to be the most interesting of the seven that have been held. The musical talent that will be gathered in the auditorium will be very attractive indeed. Among the speakers, Dr. Arthur Holmes of Philadelphia is bringing a series of messages on "Making Men Whole." Dr. Walter Traub of Omaha has a nationwide reputation and will be the head-liner for the last four days. As a Bible teacher this year, Rev. J. A. Sutherland of Wheaton, whose wonderful messages have helped thousands, then the Rev. Philip Sidersky, a converted Jew will bring some fascinating talks on Jewish customs and ceremonies. Missionary Day will be the best of our seven years. In the morning session missionaries from Africa, India and South America will be heard. Then there will be a noonday lunch at the parlors of the First Baptist church where Dr. Danner of the Missions to Lepers and other missionaries will speak. In the afternoon, missionaries from the Philippines, Korea, Burma, China, and Russia will bring their messages. In the evening Dr. Danner will speak at the vesper service at 6:45 P. M. and the song service will be given by the senior young people's choir of Rockford, led by Miss Ruth Peterson. Missionary Day will be concluded by a great missionary sermon by Dr. Traub, "The Christian's Horizon." The choir of the newly formed Dixon Evangelistic Union under the leadership of Elmer Rice and Clinton Fahney. Programs may be had at the church or at 410 Ottawa Ave. The registration will be in the hands of Mrs. J. W. Madex and Miss Luella Bowser.

DARROW IN COURT

Chicago, June 14—(AP)—Clarence Darrow, confined to his home for the past week by illness, appeared in Federal court today as one of the attorneys for the return from the government of $25,000 worth of hops, malt and similar products seized in a raid on his store two years ago.

The veteran attorney, showing the effects of his illness, took little part in the proceedings which consisted of technical motions and arguments.

Govt. Competition In Business Charged

Washington, June 14—(AP)—A charge that "a misrepresentation of the facts" by the War Department is forcing private barge lines on the Mississippi river to close down was made today before the special House committee investigating government competition with private business.

It came from Edward Goltra of St. Louis, representing the Louisiana Barge Line, who asked Chairman Shannon of the committee to let attorneys present testimony at a future date.

Shannon, a Missouri Democrat, promised the committee would attempt to hold another hearing.

Goltra said that by a misrepresentation of the facts, the Secretary of War compelled the Louisiana line to charge the same rates as those levied by competitive railroads while the government barge lines operate at 80 per cent of them. Then he added:

"Having succeeded in making it impossible for us to operate the Secretary of War was compelled to cancel our contract because we had not operated fully."

The committee also heard a complaint from D. W. Corbin of Joliet, Ill., representing the Land-plant Owners' National Association of the United States, that government landries at Army and Navy posts "are destroying the business of private landries in these towns and cities."

COUNCIL TO GET INFORMATION ON SALES OF BONDS

amount sufficient to pay the cost of the purchase price of the waterworks plant, mains, buildings and other property of the Dixon Water Company, together with such improvements, extensions and additions as the City may determine to make hereafter.

The City will determine to make hereafter, subject to the conditions and provisions outlined in said bid and when the City of Dixon acquires possession of said property, but not later than July 18, 1933, such proposal also stating the maturities, rate of interest and price to be paid for said bonds and such other provisions and conditions as each bidder may require.

All such bonds, if issued, shall be under the terms and provisions of an Act entitled "An Act authorizing Cities, Towns and Villages to build, purchase or extend waterworks systems for public and domestic use, and to provide for the cost thereof," approved April 18, 1899, together with all amendments thereto, including the amendment approved July 2, 1931.

Any bonds issued by the City and interest thereon shall be payable solely from the revenues derived from such waterworks system and shall not in any event constitute an indebtedness of the city.

2. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for ten thousand dollars ($10,000) payable to the order of the City of Dixon, the check of the successful bidder, if any, to be retained by the City as a guaranty of compliance with the terms of such proposal, and the checks of the unsuccessful bidders shall be returned within one week from the date the bids are opened. All proposals must be in writing and the provisions specific so that the acceptance of same by resolution of the Council will constitute a contract between the bond purchaser and the City.

3. The Council reserves the right to reject any or all proposals and shall be under no obligation to proceed with the purchase of the property or issuance of bonds, unless the Council decides that the valuation of said property, as finally determined, is fair and reasonable, and that it will be advantageous to the City to purchase, own and operate the waterworks system.

Such proposals shall be submitted to the Mayor by 10 A. M. June 28, 1932, at which time they shall be publicly opened and the Mayor shall make a full report and analysis of all bids to the Council at the next meeting thereafter.

About Clamming The mayor called to the attention of the council the ordinance drafted more than a month ago and considered by the commission, legislating against clamming along the shores of Lowell park. He stated that numerous complaints had come to his attention recently and that the clambers had been in the park for some time.

The ordinance was changed to prohibit clamming along the shores of Lowell park from June 1 to September 15, both inclusive annually and was passed by the council.

The attention of the council was called to the annual campaign against noxious weeds on vacant lots throughout the city and likewise to the open toilets and cess pools, both of which the mayor stated, were subject of repeated complaints at this season of the year. At the mayor's suggestion the council approved action, empowering the Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber to mail out notices to offenders in both instances and after this is done to enforce the city ordinances by arresting and fining

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHERRY DIXON, 19 and pretty, falls in love with DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter, who is very wealthy. Aristocratic parents have forbidden her to see him. When Cherry learns Dan's real name, she steals out of the house to meet him. Her father discovers this and threatens to send her to California. Cherry defies him and orders her to leave.

She goes to Dan, tells him what has happened and asks him to marry her. The ceremony is performed that night by a justice of peace.

Cherry looks for an apartment but is discouraged to find them so expensive. Dan works late one night on a tip that TONY TONCALI, gangland chief, is coming to Wellington. Cherry unconsciously gives this news tip to a reporter on the rival newspaper.

The other paper gets the story and Dan's boss threatens, "One more slip and you're fired."

DIXIE SHANNON, movie critic, helps Cherry find an apartment, apartment. Dan and Cherry move from the hotel. Cherry finds housework and cooking (try) MAX PEARSON, handsome friend of Dan's, is the first guest whom they invite to dinner.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

DAN PHILLIPS grinned as he fumbled in a pocket for the key. "I tell you there's nothing like it," he said to Pearson, beside him. "It's great to have a home to come to when you're through work—to know someone is waiting for you there—glad to see you and hear how the day's gone."

The key was in the lock now Dan swung the door open and stepped back for the other to enter.

"You know," Dan continued, "I used to think a fellow gave up a lot when he married—freedom, the right to come and go as he pleased and all that. Well, it's the bunk! The past two weeks have taught me that much. Of course not many men have wives like Cherry—"

"She's a pretty girl," Pearson agreed.

"Pretty? Say, Cherry's got every thing! Beauty, brains, a wonderful disposition. And the way she's taken to housekeeping!"

They were half way up the stairway. Suddenly an odor, strange and unpleasant, reached their nostrils. It was certainly a penetrating odor, and it seemed to come from above.

Dan sniffed. "Wonder if some thing's burning?" he said uneasily. "Smells like—like rubber or something, doesn't it?"

"Not rubber," Pearson said. "But there does seem to be something wrong." He coughed.

They had reached the second floor landing. The fumes were heavier and they were certainly coming from the rear apartment.

"It's smoke!" Dan exclaimed, taking the last steps in two leaps. "Cherry!" he cried, rattling the door knob. "Are you there? Open the door! It's Dan!"

There was no answer. A frantic, seemingly endless moment and then the latch gave. The two men pushed the door open.

Smoke in thick gray clouds, filling their throats and smarting their eyes, swept past them. The room was filled with it. There were no flames they could see.

"Cherry!" Dan called again. "Where are you?"

Pearson closed the door and crossed the room to raise the window higher. "It seems to be coming from over there," he said, pointing toward the kitchen. He stopped in another fit of coughing.

"Cherry!"

DAN had the kitchen door open. Yes, that was where the smoke was coming from. It poured forth in dense, almost suffocating clouds.

Pearson saw Dan's arms go around an indistinct figure. "Why, darling," Dan was saying. "You mustn't stay in all this smoke. You've got to get out of here! What in the world happened? Tell me about it!"

The girl made some answer but the words were so muffled Pearson could not hear them. Dan spoke again. "But it's all right now," he urged. "Don't cry, honey! Be glad it wasn't worse. Lord, I was frightened!"

The situation was embarrassing for Pearson. The living room was gradually clearing of the heavy air. He saw that the table had been drawn out and laid with dishes and silver. That there would be no dinner served was obvious. The whole meal must have gone up in flames.

"Look here," he said, addressing Dan's tired back. "I'll run along and drop in some company tonight. You don't want coming—any time. Tell Cherry it's perfectly all right with me."

Dan faced about. "Don't go, Max," he said. "There's been a little accident. Something wrong with the oven. We'll all have to eat somewhere else. Just as soon as Cherry's ready we'll go out together. The three of us. But you mustn't leave. Neither of us would ever forgive you. Would we, Cherry?"

The girl's face was not visible. Pearson heard her say, trembling as though to keep back the tears, "No."

"Well, of course if you'd rather," he agreed uncertainly.

There were a few more minutes in which Dan flourished a large white handkerchief and drew cold water for Cherry to bathe her eyes. Presently she appeared. She even managed to smile as she made her apologies to Pearson. Her eyes were red-rimmed and swollen.

While she was changing her dress and repairing the damage of the tears the two men settled themselves with cigarettes. Dan explained what had happened. Cherry had put a roast and vegetables into the oven. They were nearly done when she remembered that she had not enough cream. It was only a hurried all the way, certain not ing their throats and smarting their eyes, swept past them. The room was filled with it. There were no flames they could see.

"Cherry!" Dan called again. "Where are you?"

Pearson closed the door and crossed the room to raise the window higher. "It seems to be coming from over there," he said, pointing toward the kitchen. He stopped in another fit of coughing.

"Cherry!"

DAN had the kitchen door open. Yes, that was where the smoke was coming from. It poured forth in dense, almost suffocating clouds.

Pearson saw Dan's arms go around an indistinct figure. "Why, darling," Dan was saying. "You mustn't stay in all this smoke. You've got to get out of here! What in the world happened? Tell me about it!"

The girl made some answer but the words were so muffled Pearson could not hear them. Dan spoke again. "But it's all right now," he urged. "Don't cry, honey! Be glad it wasn't worse. Lord, I was frightened!"

The situation was embarrassing for Pearson. The living room was gradually clearing of the heavy air. He saw that the table had been drawn out and laid with dishes and silver. That there would be no dinner served was obvious. The whole meal must have gone up in flames.

"Look here," he said, addressing Dan's tired back. "I'll run along and drop in some company tonight. You don't want coming—any time. Tell Cherry it's perfectly all right with me."

Dan faced about. "Don't go, Max," he said. "There's been a little accident. Something wrong with the oven. We'll all have to eat somewhere else. Just as soon as Cherry's ready we'll go out together. The three of us. But you mustn't leave. Neither of us would ever forgive you. Would we, Cherry?"

The girl's face was not visible. Pearson heard her say, trembling as though to keep back the tears, "No."

"Well, of course if you'd rather," he agreed uncertainly.

There were a few more minutes in which Dan flourished a large white handkerchief and drew cold water for Cherry to bathe her eyes. Presently she appeared. She even managed to smile as she made her apologies to Pearson. Her eyes were red-rimmed and swollen.

Bicentennial Celebrations In Foreign Countries

Extending far beyond the boundaries of the United States, the celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of George Washington's Birth has reached into sixty-seven countries to find enthusiastic participants in this unprecedented observance, according to official reports received by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

With an interest given tangible expression in every possible way, the people of these foreign countries have cooperated wholeheartedly with Americans abroad in honoring the First President of the United States. In many instances citizens of foreign nations have planned and carried out programs and other patriotic manifestations on their own initiative.

Many streets and public squares abroad have been renamed for Washington. Moments are being erected to him by the members of patriotic societies and Americans in foreign countries, and numerous gatherings have echoed to his praise. In his honor the legislature of a great nation, the Reichstag of Germany, was assembled in special session, and for the first time in history, the strains of America's national anthem rang through this historic hall.

Not only have special exercises in honor of Washington taken place all over the world, but even more lasting manifestations of the esteem in which he is held have been given. Outstanding among these are the establishment of a George Washington Memorial Library in the college in Stuttgart, Germany; the naming of a municipal apartment house in Vienna, Austria, in honor of Washington; the building and naming of a park and avenue in Latvia in his honor; the issuance of a commemorative postage stamp in Poland, and other projects.

Never in this history of civilization have so many Nations united to honor the hero of a foreign land. This tribute shows, clearer than all the biographies on Washington ever written, the feeling of reverence and respect with which the Father of our Country is held throughout the world.

The United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission issued no formal invitation to any foreign government to participate in Bicentennial celebration. And through the Department of State, American embassies, legations and consulates were reached, while American Chambers of Commerce and other organizations were contracted directly by the Commission. As a result, Bicentennial committees were set up not only in practically every foreign country, but also in the principal cities of the world.

These celebrations have all been financed by Americans living abroad and by the friendly citizens of foreign countries. In no case has the United States government or the Federal Bicentennial Commission supplied funds for that purpose.

Reports received by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission indicate that foreign interest and activity in the celebration will continue until the official close of the observance next Thanksgiving Day. Programs have been planned for many of the dates which will be observed in the United States, such as Memorial Day, Flag Day, Independence Day, Constitution Day, Armistice Day and other similar occasions during the year.

Industry's Position Will Be Presented

Chicago, June 14—(AP)—Industry's position on a number of public problems, as prepared by the National Association of Manufacturers, is to be presented to the Platform committee of the Republican National convention and later to that of the Democratic party.

The statement, calls for resumption of the 18th Amendment to constitutional conventions in each state; urges stabilization of labor by establishment of voluntary unemployment reserves, either by trade associations or individual plants; condemns the "dole" as undesirable; urges the "abandonment of the hopeless experiment in the governmental control of agricultural prices, production and surpluses" and asks the prompt and drastic reduction of public expenditures.

Among those who aided in the preparation of the statement, some of whom will present it to the Platform committees of the two parties are Silas H. Strawn, former President of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Newcomb Carlton, head of the Western Union; W. W. Atterbury, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Robert Graham, Detroit auto manufacturer; and James A. Campbell, Youngstown, Ohio, steel manufacturer.

Variety Of Cures For Farmers Urged

Chicago, June 14—(AP)—A variety of cures for agriculture's accumulated misfortunes were heaped up today for presentation to the platform makers of the Republican convention.

They ranged from the conservative program outlined by Secretary Hyde, endorsing the Farm Board and cooperative marketing, to the proposal of an Iowa, Dr. E. E. Bamford, that half the outstanding farm mortgages be liquidated through a four-billion dollar bond issue.

They included of course the perennial equalization fee and export debenture plans, points of congressional dispute for sessions back, and a third proposal that has found much support, under which the needs of the country would be estimated and allotted to the farmers with cost of production guaranteed by the government.

Secretary Hyde said today he hopes to see the party pledge itself anew to the policies formulated in 1928. He wants it to support the Farm Board on the theory that its principles are sound, that its labors have been effective.
